Couples Therapy

The following conditions apply to all cases of Couples/Marital Therapy.

1. One adult will be identified as the “client” for insurance purposes; however, each adult is required to consent to therapy. If one person relinquishes consent, therapy will terminate, unless a mutually agreeable decision is reached for my continuing with one person individually.
2. Consent for communication and/or records with past and/or current providers, physicians, courts, etc., may be requested. Each person will be required to sign any consent in order for it to be considered valid. If one person relinquishes consent, the entire consent will become invalid.
3. Each person must be aware that the “couple” is the “identified client” and should not assume that I will maintain a privilege of confidentiality with one person from the other person.
4. Life/health threatening issues such as extramarital affairs, or sex outside of the relationship are considered by Tracy Lamperti under the category of “duty to warn.” In couple’s therapy, if this issue is revealed or suspected, the couple will be immediately directed to seek medical evaluation, testing and treatment. A refusal to do so will result in therapy being terminated.

I have read this contract in its entirety and been given the opportunity to ask questions and get clarification about any part that may not have been understood. My signature indicates that I understand and accept these conditions.
